

A script from

“Hit and Run”

by
Rachel Cheevers

- What Just like a waiter who drops the check and then disappears, sometimes it's easier to “drop our faith” and then run without ever investing in someone. Here's a girl who has the passion, but doesn't quite seem to get the point. (Themes: Sharing your Faith, Relating to Others, Boldness, Being Real)
- Who Anna
Hallie
- When Present day
- Wear (Props) Notebook
Letter w/dialogue
Coupon
StuffMart uniform (can be blue shirt and khaki pants like at Wal-Mart or Best Buy)
- Why “Preach the Gospel at all times; if necessary use words.”
-St. Augustine
- How Anna is a well-intentioned Christian and is very eager to win someone to the Lord, so she should come in like a tornado, stunning Hallie. It's as if Anna has had a few too many Red Bulls before she came into the store.
- Time 2-3 minutes

Anna walks into "Stuff Mart" very excited to share her faith to the first person she sees.

- Anna: Okay, I am back from youth camp, and I am just so pumped about sharing the gospel! Oh, look, a cashier! It's my first victim. (walks up to cashier)
- Hallie: Hello, and welcome to Stuff Mart. Here is a coupon for our new display of peppermint pistachio frozen yogurt. My name is Hallie. How are you doing today?
- Anna: Oh, I am fine. But how are you? How is your day going?
- Hallie: Great, I am doing great!
- Anna: Uh... hold on just a second. (Flips through a notebook she is holding) Here, read paragraph ten out loud, please.
- Hallie: Okay... (takes the notebook) "I feel lost and alone in a cruel cold world. I feel like I am driving my life, but it is time to let someone else take the wheel. I need some sort of a supernatural power- something that can't be found in this world. I wish I had someone to tell me what/who it is I need."
- Anna: Well, I'm your girl! You need someone named Jesus!
- Hallie: Oh, I know Jesus.
- Anna: That's wonderful. Would you like to accept him as your personal Lord and Savior?
- Hallie: Well, actually....
- Anna: That's wonderful! I'll pray with you. (begins to pray) Dear heavenly gracious father, please come down into this young girl's life. Help her to trust in you with all her heart so that she does not go straight to hell. Please God, help her not to be foolish and stupid and throw her life away, but let her believe in your wonderful, amazing promises. In your great name we pray, amen.
- Hallie: Thanks, but I became a Christi....
- Anna: Oh, your line is at the bottom of the page.... there.
- Hallie: (reading again from the notebook) "Thank you for helping me find meaning in my life."
- Anna: You're welcome. Have a nice day.