“The Great Adventure of Sling and Stone”

SLING: Hi.

STONE: Hi.

SLING: I’m Sling.

STONE: I’m Stone.

SLING: Nice to meet you.

STONE: Back atcha. (pointing up to an unseen character) Who’s this kid?

SLING: Oh, him? That’s David. Nice boy. Smells like sheep though.

STONE: Good shot?

SLING: Excellent shot. He’s killed like...lions, and tigers, and bears!

STONE: Oh my!

SLING: Yeah. He rocks. Hey! You rock!

STONE: No. I’m Stone.

SLING: No, I meant...never mind.

STONE: Well, I’m glad he’s a good shot. The last guy who picked me up was trying to skip rocks and impress some girl. Awful. I’ve been swimming in that stream ever since. I think I may have gotten pruney.

SLING: So, you’ve heard then?

STONE: Heard what?

SLING: About this giant guy.

STONE: Giant? Oh yeah...you mean Goliath?

SLING: Yeah, that’s the one.

STONE: Scary dude. Bad breath too. Every day he’s out here bellowing and bragging, defying the armies of Israel, blah blah blah.

SLING: He’s huge!

STONE: He’s huge all right!

SLING: Enormous!

STONE: Monstrous!

SLING: So tall he blocks the sun!

STONE: And the moon and stars too!

SLING: And David’s going to fight him.

STONE: And David’s going to...WHAT?!

SLING: Fight him.

STONE: Fight him?!

SLING: Yes.

STONE: With what?

SLING: With me.

STONE: Oh.
