Defending the world from bad drama ... one skit at a time.

Todd and Jen enter living room set after a date.

Jen: (Nervous) Here's the living room!

Todd: Yeah, here we are!

Jen: Wanna sit?

Todd: Is it okay?

Jen: Yeah, we sit here all the time. (Sitting on the couch)

Todd: No, I mean are your parent's home?

Jen: Oh! No, no, no. Not tonight!

Todd: So... (Sits beside her on the couch)

Jen: So...

Todd: Here we are! Downstairs... All alone... What to do, what to do...

Jen: That was a really good movie tonight.

Todd: Yes, yes it was. I liked it a lot. It was great, really great.

Jen: (Cute actor) was really cute!

Todd: Yeah, I guess. (Looking like he has no chance with her)

Jen: Oh! But he doesn't even compare to you...

Todd: Really? (Gets real close to her)

Jen: (Flirty) Uh - huh. (Todd moves in to kiss her) Hold on, Buddy. I didn't give your hormones the go-ahead to be a mack daddy-on me.

Todd: Wait a minute. You're giving me mixed signals here. As far as my hormones are concerned, I'm already revved up, you cannot tell me you' aren't a little turned on as well...

Start music of a techno-dance song with no words.

Hormones enter the scene dancing, Girl Hormones dance behind Jen, and the Guy Hormones dance behind Todd.*

Todd: Look, I am really sorry...

Jen: Don't even touch me! I cannot believe this. You're supposed to treat me like a lady. You're supposed to be a gentleman! If my dad ever found out... oh, you'd be in so much trouble! Don't you ever, ever, ever do that again!

Girl Hormones go over to beat up the Guy Hormones. Have each Girl Hormone do something different to the Guy Hormones as Jen says this dialogue.*

Todd: Look, I am sorry! It's just... I think we have a lot of chemistry and I think we have something really special. (Girl Hormones start listening to what Todd has to say*) You have such beautiful hair and your eyes are so magical and I love your lips. And when you walk into a room, it's like... the sun comes up! You're just so great. Hey, Jen? Can I ask you something? (Girl Hormones let up on Guy Hormones, and stop hurting them as much as they hear Todd tell Jen all sweet words.*)

Jen: Yes, Todd?

Todd: Did it hurt?
